A Ministry Tool for Preschool & Children's Leaders DECEMBER 2010

Walking Through the Storm

Guide parents in your church who are going through difficulty. Angie Smith's testimony and example of strength through a season of loss will inspire you (pp. 34-36).

Listen & Learn Equip divorced parents in your church to know how to listen to their kids and help them navigate the impact of divorce. Counselor David Thomas answers common questions regarding the children of divorce (pp. 24-25).

HELP Parents in Uncertain TIMES

Are parents in your ministry fearful? Fearful of the economy? Fearful of job loss? Fearful of the future for their children?

Max Lucado inspires parents and points them toward God who holds the future (pp. 18-21).

KNOW BUSY PARENTS?

As kids get older, they seem to get busier. This article will help parents in your ministry maximize their time connecting with their preteen through minimum planning and focused effort (pp. 16-17).

FIXING our FIBBING

Encourage families in your church to practice honesty and personal integrity. This article emphasizes the importance of setting an honest example for children (even in the small things) (pp. 22-23).

EVERYDAY Teaching Moments Equip parents in your ministry with practical ideas for experiencing God in daily family life. Pass along these three articles to help parents to teach their kids about God (pp. 26-27, 47).

100% — The percentage of ParentLife readers who love Christmas! Equip parents in your ministry to put Christmas in perspective this year with these six articles (pp. 38-41, 43-44).

"I cannot raise this girl, but You can. I give her back to You." — Max Lucado's prayer about his newborn daughter, Jenna, when faced with the fears of becoming a new parent (pp. 18-21).
